

Roberto Vigotti

He graduated from University of Pisa in Electrical Engineering – 1971. In 1974 he joined ENEL, research and development division. In 1982 he coordinated research and demonstration programs in new renewable energy, Wind, PV and CSP. In 1998 at Cesi laboratory, he was in charge of strategic marketing, then joined Enel Green Power Unit seeking out business opportunities for renewable energy. From 2002 to 2005 he was senior advisor in Enel International Department. He occupied various positions from 2006-2009 at Enel Corporate, Inergia of Santarelli Group and Director General of OME. He was part time assistant professor at Pisa University 1974-1980; Chairman of Renewables and Distributed

Generation Working Group of Eurelectric from 1998 to 2004. In 1992 to 1997 he chaired IEA , Implementing Agreement of Photovoltaic Power Systems . He is member of various international organizations, Vice President of the Italian Section of ISES, and a Board Member of ISES. He published many papers and editor of various Italian Magazines in Renewable Energy. He speaks Italian, English and French languages.

His presentations are on:

- 1- Renewable Energy Deployment and System Integration: Key factors for policy makers
- 2- Critical Analysis of on-going MED Solar Initiatives