

Renewable Energy Journal

Professor Ali Sayigh and Linda Sayigh wish to express their warmest thanks to all reviewers and authors, Associate Editors and Board Members, who have so generously supported Renewable Energy – the Official Journal of WREN – over the last three decades.

Ali Sayigh was the founding Editor-in-chief and he and Linda Sayigh have worked tirelessly to raise the journal to its present level. Ali and Linda retired from their active role in the journal on 1 April 2014. Elsevier have appointed a new Editor-in-chief, Dr Soteris Kalogirou, and we wish him every success in this role, and hope that you will give him your full support. All queries regarding reviews, papers and submissions should be addressed to him and the Elsevier support team at the Renewable Energy website. Renewable Energy will continue to be the official WREN Journal.
